My dear Professor

I know nothing of Mr Dawes Hicks.¹ If he is an Oxford man, he has not in any way distinguished himself. If I knew his College I might be able to find out something more about him. At present I can discover nothing. Of course if you know that he is a competent person, that is enough. | But I cannot answer for him.

I am sending you this post a notice of Professor Wallace² which I contribute to the University magazine. You can reproduce it in Kantstudien, if you think fit.

I shall not look out for any one to fill Prof. Wallace's plan till I have heard from you.

Yours respectfully^b

E. Caird

Anmerkungen

² a notice of Professor Wallace] vgl. Kant-Studien 3 (1899), S. 248 (Sonstige neu eingegangene Schriften): Caird, Edw. Professor Wallace (Nekrolog). The Oxford Magazine XV. N. 13. (v. 24. Febr. 1897). Kein Wiederabdruck in Kant-Studien.
