My dear Sir

I sent you some time ago a paper¹ by Prof. Watson on Kant's Idealism or his attitude towards Idealism. I did not write at the time, as I supposed Prof. Watson had written to you.² But I take the liberty | of calling your attention to it, that it should have been controlled.

Sir Yours respectfully^b

E. Caird

Anmerkungen

¹ a paper] d. i. wahrscheinlich, obwohl darin vom Idealismus nicht die Rede ist: The Cartesian Cogito ergo sum and Kant's Criticism of Rational Psychology. By John Watson, Queen's University, Kingston, Canada. In: Kant-Studien 2 (1898), S. 22–49.

² Prof. Watson had written to you] vgl. John Watson an Vaihinger vom 4.7.1896. Etwaige weitere Schreiben nicht überliefert. John Watson (1847–1939), ausgebildet an der University of Glasgow (u. a. bei Caird), war seit 1872 Prof. an der Queens' University, Kingston, Ontario, Kanada (WBIS).

^a December] Decb. (Lesung unsicher)

^b Sir Yours respectfully] verschliffen geschrieben
